

New Director At CMR

Control instrumentation and electrical engineering company CMR has appointed a senior director to oversee strategy and drive global sector operations.

Jacques-André Mayeur will be based at the CMR Group's Marseille, France, head office, where he will lead and support the commercial team, the project team and the delivery of the Energy Industry Marine (EIM) business strategy.

Mayeur, who will report to Chief Executive Office Yves Barraquand, has held previous management positions with David Brown and Clyde Union Pumps (CBC Group), Sundyne Corp. and Flowserve. The CMR Group supplies instrumentation and controls for offshore platforms and vessels, marine, engines and industrial applications.
